MESSAGE FROM THEN GENERAL MANAGER/CEO

I want to take this opportunity to thank you for attending this year's Annual Membership Meeting. Each year, the Board of Directors and employees look forward to meeting many of the cooperative members for the first time and renew acquaintances with those who attend each year. For the past few years we have seen more members attending the Annual Meeting for the first time, along with a record number of attendees as well.

This past year was a successful year for your cooperative. We have included for your review the 2016 year-end financial statements, along with other statistical information.

At this meeting you will hear reports and updates regarding the operations of the cooperative and what can be expected in the future.

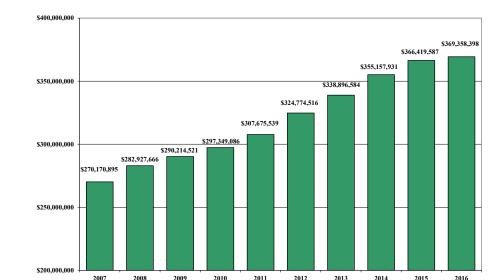

Annual membership meetings are held by electric cooperatives all over the country each year. Today there are more than 900 electric cooperatives providing reliable, affordable and technologically advanced service to 42 million Americans across the country.

As an electric cooperative member, you are part of a very special group that is rich in history and started with a dream, and that dream was to electrify rural America.

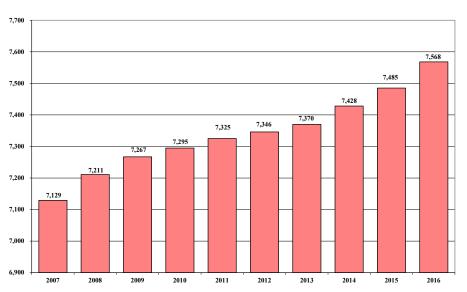

I hope you enjoy this year's Annual Meeting.

Yours truly, Jerry Boze General Manager/CEO

MISSON STATEMENT: At Trinity Valley Electric Cooperative, we are committed to our member-owners to deliver safe and reliable electric power at a competitive price, with a strong emphasis on member service, community and sound business practices.

Voluntary and Open Membership — Cooperatives are voluntary organizations, open to all persons able to use their services and willing to accept the responsibilities of membership, without gender, social, racial, political or religious discrimination.

Democratic Member Control — Cooperatives are democratic organizations controlled by their members, who actively participate in setting policies and making decisions. The elected representatives are accountable to the membership. In primary cooperatives, members have equal voting rights (one member, one vote) and cooperatives at other levels are organized in a democratic manner.

Members' Economic Participation — Members contribute equitably to, and democratically control, the capital of their cooperative. At least part of that capital is usually the common property of the cooperative. Members usually receive limited compensation, if any, on capital subscribed as a condition of membership. Members allocate surpluses for any or all of the following purposes: developing the cooperative, possibly by setting up reserves, part of which at least would be indivisible; benefiting members in proportion to their transactions with the cooperative; and supporting other activities approved by the membership.

Autonomy and Independence — Cooperatives are autonomous, self-help organizations controlled by their members. If they enter into agreements with other organizations, including governments, or raise capital from external sources, they do so on terms that ensure democratic control by their members and maintain their cooperative autonomy.

Education, Training and Information — Cooperatives provide education and training for their members, elected representatives, managers and employees so they can contribute effectively to the development of their cooperatives. They inform the general public, particularly young people and opinion leaders, about the nature and benefits of cooperation.

Cooperation Among Cooperatives — Cooperatives serve their members most effectively and strengthen the cooperative movement by working together through local, national, regional and international structures.

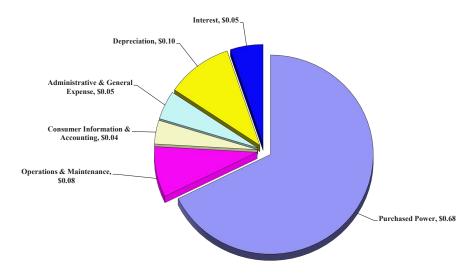

Concern for Community — While focusing on member needs, cooperatives work for the sustainable development of their communities through policies accepted by their members.
